Council opts for more control over lot use

Commercial zoning upheld

By Lynne Locke

Upland City Council last week rejected a Planning Commission recommendation to rezone a Second Avenue lot to match its residential neighbors.

The existing single-family home at 965 N. Second Ave. will retain its highway-commercial zoning although the council had previously said the zoning was incompatible with the residential neighborhood.

The parcel had come to the council's attention in September when Madelyn Hayes requested a conditional-use permit for a residential-care home for six mentally retarded women.

The council rejected that use citing safety hazards caused by heavy traffic, the small size of the house and incompatibility with the residential neighborhood.

Councilman George Gibson, who lives at 894 N. Second Ave., said approval of the residential-care home would be the first step in allowing commercial zoning on the rest of the street.

But last week Gibson moved the council reject the proposed residential zoning because the existing highway-commercial zoning would give the council more control over the use of the property.

Under residential zoning the house could be used for a residential-care facility without needing council approval. City Attorney Donald Maroney said residential care homes for a limited number of people are permitted in every single-family residential area.

Under highway-commercial zoning the lot can be used for a variety of commercial purposes including retail and auto sales, pet grooming, offices, florist, and newsstand. Maroney said the council would have no control over normal commercial uses.

The house also could be used for a single-family residence but would require a conditional use permit to be used as a residential-care home, dance hall, child care center or cocktail lounge.

Councilman Hal Bailin supported the highway-commercial zoning as appropriate for the lot which is adjacent to a restaurant and service station with a shopping center across the street.

Rezoning the lot residential would create a "residential enclave" for a lot that "fits into the C-4 (highway-commercial) pattern," he added.

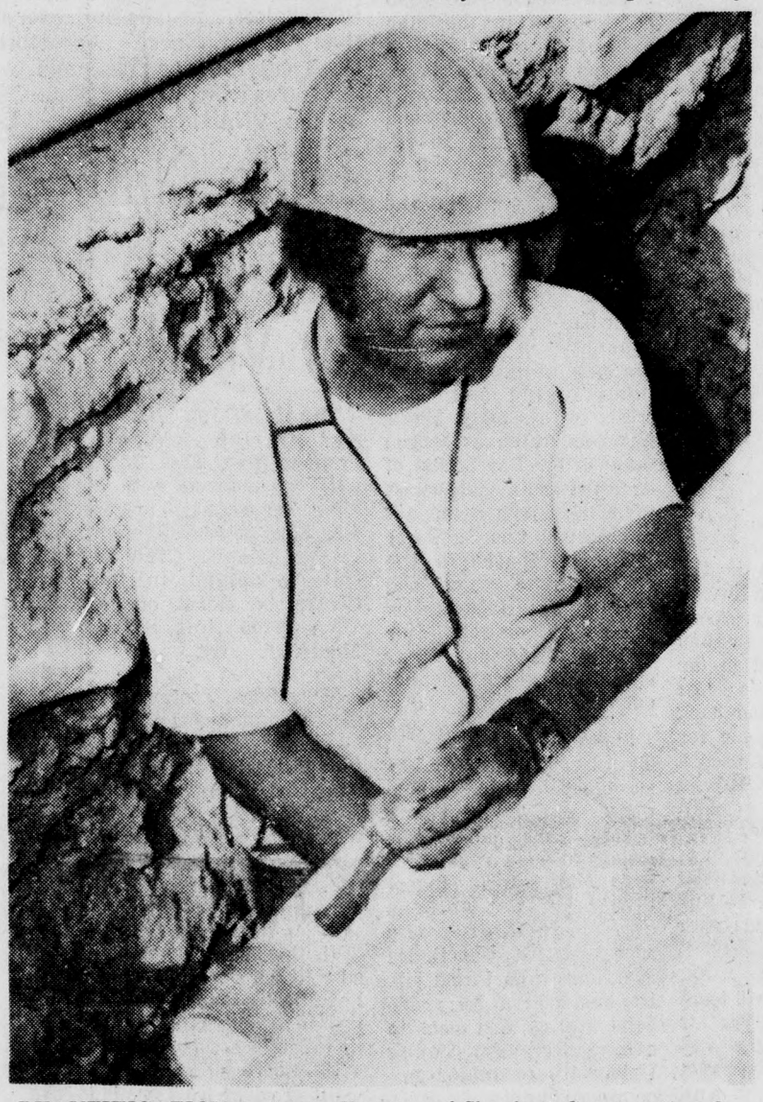

City Manager Lee Travers said problems arise because the lot is developed as single-family residential with no buffer from the adjacent commercial development.

Also last week the council approved a zone change from multiple-family residential to light-manufacturing for a La Verna Cooperative Citrus Association lot northwest of Eighth Street and Third Avenue.

The council made the zoning change contingent on the coop removing piles of scrap iron and maintaining the property so neighbors are not bothered by trash or flies.

La Verne Coop plans to replace the present buildings with a large concrete building and to screen the entire lot so that trash bins and piles of packing crates will be within an enclosure, according to manager Ray Eichenburg.

Several adjacent landowners opposed the zone change as incompatible with the present residential neighborhood citing noise, hours of operation, traffic and parking congestion, and appearance of the business.

Chaffey Community Art Association

Group works to establish art gallery

By Lynne Locke

Chaffey Community Art Association is working to establish an art gallery and workshop, according to president Priscilla Hensley.

The group hopes to rent a temporary building while members continue raising funds to construct a permanent gallery on association-owned land on 18th Street.

The association's "beautiful" art collection worth more than $16,000 is presently "just scattered here and there," Mrs. Hensley said.

Rental buildings are hard to find, she noted but added, "Fontana has a marvelous art center. I don't see any reason why we can't have one as good."

The Chaffey Community Art Association has changed since it was formed in 1941 to stimulate interest, education and enjoyment in art, according to trustee Selma Mast.

The association presently includes many artists who are more interested in doing their own creative work than in sponsoring the extensive art show held yearly by the association in the past, she said.

Some members would like to renew the invitational show, but organizing such a show takes "days and days of viewing paintings and interviewing artists," noted Mrs. Mast.

The association built up its art collection by purchasing an outstanding work at each invitational show. Only one piece has been purchased since the shows were halted in 1963 due to lack of an exhibition hall.

Mrs. Mast said the nucleus of the permanent collection is the Barbara Line Memorial Collection donated by Mr. and Mrs. Francis Raymond Line in honor of their daughter Barbara who died of leukemia.

The nine paintings in the memorial collection hang in the Chaffey High School library and are considered to be separate from the association's permanent collection, according to Mrs. Mast.

Local artists Tom Craig and Millard Sheets are among the nationally and internationally known artists represented in the 25-piece permanent collection, she said. The art work includes traditional and abstract paintings in oils and watercolors as well as one sculpture.

Mrs. Mast said the association's dream has been to have a gallery to display the permanent collection which presently hangs in local businesses and at Chaffey College.

But a gallery takes a lot of money to build, and a lot of work by association members is needed to staff the galley, she noted.

The community art association was the first one formed in Southern California and was well known for its work in encouraging major artists, Mrs. Mast said and added the present trend seems to be to encourage member artists.

The association is moving again after a recent reorganization, according to Mrs. Hensley. In spite of changing goals and membership, the association would not think of folding, she said and added, it would be impossible to close an organization with property, a $10,000 building fund, and a $16,000 art collection.

The association puts out a monthly newsletter. Recent monthly meetings demonstrated cartooning, stained glass, weaving, and ink drawing.

The association also sponsors a Chaffey College art scholarship to help local art students purchase supplies.

Association officers who assist Mrs. Hensley include Dorothy Baily, second vice president; Lorene Masters, treasurer; Thelma Burnison, assistant treasurer; Eleanor Thorogood, telephone; Clint Bryant, ways and means; Boyd Robbins, newsletter; Curt Hensley, special exhibits; and Dawn Soldain, rotating exhibits.

Harriet White and Helen Maurer serve with Mrs. Mast as trustees.

ART COLLECTION — Artist Dennis Ning Yeh displays a Sumi ink painting of a horse similar to one recently added to the Chaffey Community Art Association collection, valued at more than $16,000. The association is searching for a rental building to house the collection which includes works by local artists Millard Sheets and Tom Craig as well as other nationally known artists. Artists decorate DMV

Three members of the Associated Artists have painted large panels in oil of old and familar scenes of Upland and Ontario.

These were presetned recently to the Department of Motor Vehicles to decorate the new Mountain Avenue office in Upland.

One painting is a view looking north on Second Avenue in Upland sometime in the 1920s. This was painted by Gerri Bowman.

Anna Ruth Pritchett's painting is a view of the old Chaffey High School science building in the 1920s, and the painting done by Lois Clifford is of a 1903 Oldsmobile.

By using local talent, Frank Smith, manager of the DMV hopes to create a closer relationship with the community and a more relaxed atmosphere within the building.

The purpose of the Associated Artists is to encourage the creation and appreciation of objective art through a cooperative fellowship between artists and the public.

There are 100 active members in the group, and meetings are held at the Ontario City Library on the second Wednesday of each month. The public is invited to attend the demonstrations which are given.

Changes in bus special pass program listed

The West Valley Transit Service Authority has announced that the senior citizen and handicapped bus pass program for all West End cities has been modified for the first quarter of this year.

Senior citizen passes will be issued only at the Ontario Library, 215 E. "C" St., Ontario, on Wednesday January 7, February 11, and March 10, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Those living in other West End cities and county areas will have to come to the Ontario Library to receive their pass.

The passes are accepted on all buses operated within the jurisdiction of the West Valley Transit Service Authority and the connecting SBTS Route 14. County Transportation Department personnel will issue passes for a $3 fee and this will allow the pass holder to ride and transfer free of additional charge.

Persons 62 years or older are eligible for senior citizen passes which are valid until revoked. Proof of age must be furnished when applying for the pass. Driver's license, birth certificate, Medi-Cal or Medi-Care card, or other similar documents are acceptable. Handicapped persons who do not have a visable impairment must bring a doctor's certificate or other document stating the need for a pass. Applicants must appear in person as photographs are taken and appear on the pass.

Information regarding the senior citizen and handicapped pass program can be obtained by calling the West End Transit Office at 988-1215.

New leaders are certified

Three new leaders have been certified by the Mt. Baldy View Chapter of La Leche League.

These women are Mrs. Joseph Duncan, Mrs. John Haugland and Mrs. Francis Wass.

The Mt. Baldy View Chapter covers the areas east of San Dimas to Alta Loma and from Upland south to Chino.

La Leche League is a non-profit international organzation which encourages "good mothering" through breastfeeding. Basic duties of the leaders include attending and leading monthly group meetings, availability for phone calls from mothers, and from time to time, leaders may be called upon to represent the league in other ways such as outside speaking engagements in their communities.

The La Leache League (LLL) held its first meeting in October of 1956. Over the years, the organization has become worldwide. The league now has over 7,591 LLL leaders, and 2,435 LLL groups in 38 countries. The professional advisory board consists of 34 doctors well-known in their particular fields.

LLL leaders believe, according to Joann Duncan of the league, that "As we grow in the understanding that to be a mother is to be the person who is most concerned with understanding and satisfying the needs of the child, we appreciate the value of helping each other to see the kinds of needs our children have, and how best to help toward fulfilling them. We believe that mothering through breastfeeding is the most natural and effective way for a mother to fulfill the infant's needs.

"Besides providing the infant with a good start in life, a woman who chooses to mother through breastfeeding, finds it an excellent way to grow in mothering as her baby grows in years."

College has course on writing analysis

Chaffey College will offer an off-campus course in handwriting analysis, with the first class Tuesday, 7 to 10 p.m. at the old Upland Public Library building, under the instruction of certified graphoanalyst, Jeannie Alfano. The class will be conducted every Tuesday, and run to March 2.

The course is designed to show participants how to assess the sources of caligraphic squiggles in terms of personalities and life styles. It is also intended to help students evaluate their own handwriting as a means of self-improvement.

Enrollment is limited to 20 persons and will be handled at the first class. There will be no enrollment fee.

Director will give talk

"All About Pharmacy" is the topic to be discussed on Monday, Jan. 19, by Jack Berens, director of the San Antonio Community Hospital Pharmacy, at the regular luncheon meeting of the San Antonio Community Hospital Auxiliary.

Berens participated in the planning of the newly constructed pharmacy department.

A noon luncheon will be served in Aita Auditorium at the hospital. The speaker will be presented at 12:40 p.m. by Mrs. Maurice Harper, program chairman.

Health Tips

Plastic surgery facts

EDITOR'S NOTE: Health Tips is a column of the California Medical Education and Research Foundation, prepared and edited by physician members of the California Medical Association. It is reprinted by this newspaper as a public service.

"Eyelid plasty" and "nasal surgery" refer to exacting surgical procedures aimed at correcting and improving the facial appearance.

Blepharoplasty

Puffy eyelids and "bags" under the eyes are caused by a redundancy of skin and excessive fatty tissue. While these conditions are a part of the natural aging process, they can also be seen in young people who have inherited these tendencies as a family characteristic. The surgical removal of this excess tissue — blepharoplasty, commonly referred to as an "eyelid plasty" — results in a smoother, younger looking appearance.

Your doctor will be able to tell you if this type of cosmetic surgery is indicated for you and what you can reasonably expect to gain from the operation. In an initial interview your doctor may also perform a physical examination to make sure you are in good general health before undergoing surgery. Following this, a date can be selected for your blepharoplasty.

A 1-2-day period of hospitalization is usual for the operation; however, many are being done as an outpatient procedure. The surgical procedure, performed under a local anesthetic, takes 30 minutes to an hour for the upper eyelids or 1-2 hours if both upper and lower eye areas are corrected. A rest and recovery period for the remainder of that day and the next follows. While the procedure and recovery period are both painless, minor discomfort can arise from the swelling and discoloration that immediately follow the surgery. There is a recovery time of 2-3 weeks before most of the swelling and discoloration will disappear.

The permanency of your eye surgery is an encouraging plus factor. You can expect the good results to last for 5-10 years. After that time, if another blepharoplasty is indicated, there is no reason why it cannot be successfully carried out. It must be remembered that people age at different rates, controlled largely by heredity and biochemistry.

Rhinoplasty

Another specialized plastic surgery procedure which can yield a great psychological boost for some people, as well as dramatically improve appearance, is nasal surgery or rhinoplasty.

A very large nose or one that is beaked or "bumpy" can cause serious emotional problems in both children and adults. Since noses keep on growing through adolescence, doctors advise waiting until a child is 15 or 16 years old before undergoing rhinoplasty. In this way a second "bump" can usually be avoided after a first one is surgically eliminated. In adults, of course, this situation does not exist.

Rhinoplasty usually requires a hospital stay of 1-2 days but also can be done as an outpatient procedure. The surgical procedure is a very exacting one with all of the surgery performed completely within the nose, usually leaving no external scars. As a rule, it is performed under local anesthesia, but it may be performed under general anesthesia if the patient wishes. The bones are accurately broken and then reset to form the corrected shape. Cartilages are also trimmed. A submucous resection to improve breathing may also be performed upon the nasal septum in conjunction with rhinoplasty or may be done as a separate procedure.

Following the operation a protective splint is placed over the nose and acts as a small cast. This is removed after 4-7 days, depending on the patient's healing rate. "Black eyes" and swelling usually follow nose surgery and necessitate cold compresses around the nose and eyes at frequent intervals during the three-week recovery period.

Your doctor will tell you that pain from rhinoplasty is classified as "practically negligible" and that at the end of 2-3 weeks you will again look "presentable," with the discoloration and swelling largely gone. Total recovery, however, with all swelling and traces of bruises completely gone, can take from three months to one year. This variation in total recovery time depends on the patient's bone structure, thickness of skin and individual rate of healing. Since your new nose and changed appearance last a lifetime the more extended recovery period required by rhinoplasty is accepted as being well worth it.

Your family physician or local county medical society can refer you to specialists in the field of plastic surgery.

Bicentennial gift to nation

Celebrate with trees

During the Bicentennial year there can be no finer gift to the nation than planting a tree to beautify America on its 200th birthday. A new tree for the landscape can symbolize a continuing faith in the American spirit for you and your family.

Picture the farm heritage of America in fruit tree plantings for home orchards. Enjoy almond, pear, peach, and apple blossoms and come to share in the hope of many for future years of abundant harvests.

Who hasn't been grateful for the foresight our ancestors had in planting the magnificent shade and ornamental trees that shade and enrich our streets, parks and countryside?

During the start of the bareroot season, while your local nursery has an excellent selection, is the perfect time to select a fine shade tree, fruit tree or ornamental specimen. In addition, planting bareroot stock has many advantages over spring or summer plantings. By establishing the tree during the winter and early spring you can take full advantage of the entire growing season.

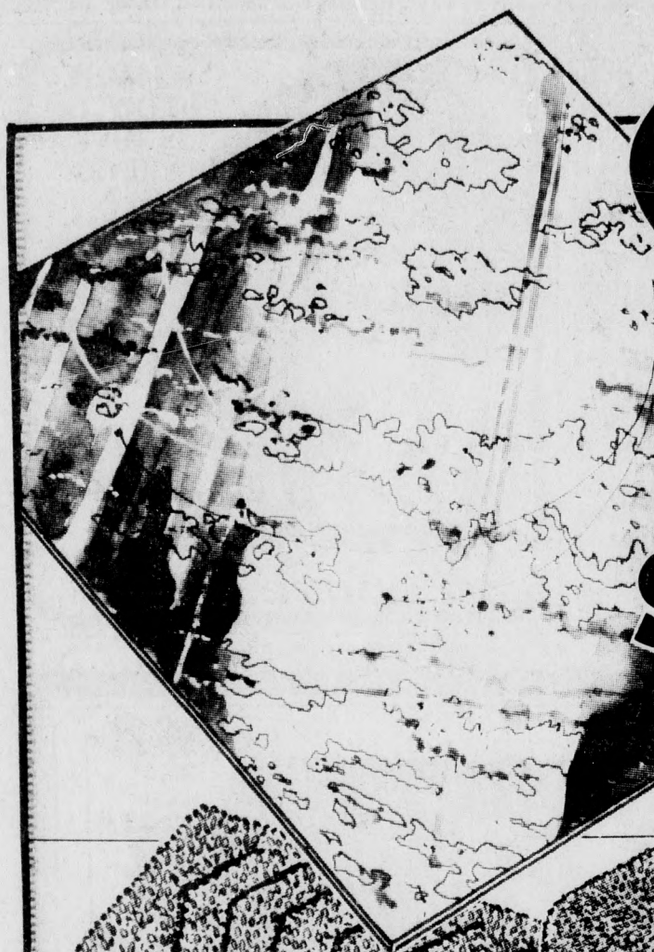

There's also little chance that the dormant trees will go into shock if they are cared for correctly and the root system has not been allowed to dry out. Best of all, bareroot trees usually are less expensive than container grown stock, there are no cans to cut and the root system is exposed for your inspection.

Choose from deciduous flowering trees, like plum, crabapple and flowering peach as well as shade trees like maples, locust and mulberry to name only a few. For the home orchard, nearly all fruit trees are best planted as young bareroot trees. Select your favorite variety of peach, apple, nectarine, apricot, plum, pear, cherry, almond or walnut.

To plant bareroot trees the California Association of Nurserymen suggests that you spread the roots over a cone of soil in the planting hole and gradually fill in with loose topsoil. Pack firmly with your foot when the hole is filled and make sure that the trunk is not buried below its original planting depth. Prune, if necessary, under the guidance of your nurseryman.

"PLAY IT AGAIN, SAM" — Doug Dowd as Allen Felix looks lustfully at Vanessa (Sue Brown), self-acclaimed sex goddess in the Valley Community Theatre's production of Woody Allen's "Play It Again, Sam," performed 8:30 p.m. Fridays and Saturdays through Feb. 7. For reservations call the VCT, 132 E. Third, Pomona, (714) 622-6954. The romantic comedy is directed by Tom Smeeth and produced by special arrangement with Samuel French Inc.

'Play It Again, Sam'

VCT airs romantic-comedy

The Valley Community Theatre of Pomona is currently showing Woody Allen's comedy "Play It Again, Sam."

Appearing in the Woody Allen role as the all-time schlmiel is Douglas Dowd as Allen Felix, whose life is changed when he is visited by the ghost of his cinema hero Humphrey Bogart. A VCT newcomer, Dowd has extensive experience with Ontario's Gallery Theatre, including featured roles in "Mr. Roberts," "Bye Bye Birdie," "The Sound of Music" and "Enter Laughing."

The part of Felix's love interest—and the wife of his best friend—is played by Lupe Laidlaw, in her first return to the VCT since she appeared as Corrie in the 1968 run of "Barefoot in the Park." In the interim Ms. Laidlaw has been seen in several Gallery shows—"The Odd Couple" and "Forty Carats" —and in numerous college theatricals in the area.

Linda's husband, Felix's best friend, is played by Jess Ray, making his second VCT stage appearance after the recent "Gypsy." Currently serving as the VCT's president, Ray brings to that position his considerable experience in the technical field, having worked lights at the Pasadena Playhouse, Pasadena Civic Auditorium, CBS and NBC.

Appearing (and disappearing) in the key role as Bogie's shade is Richard Mitchell who has been seen in past years in such diverse Gallery productions as "Dracula," "See How They Run" and most recently as Doc in last year's "Mr. Roberts."

Other cast members are Tina Geer as Nancy, Jacquelyn Stewart as Sharon, Sue Brown as Gina, and Kathy Littleton as Vanessa.

The play is directed by Tom Smeeth, a Pomona College student making his VCT debut after extensive acting and directing work in school.

The production staff includes: producer, Donna McCormick; set design and construction, Ed McCormick; costume coordinator, Karla Skrob; publicity, Pat England; lighting design, Nick Hooyboer; property mistress, Linda Schmicking; production artist, Mark McDaniels; and rehearsal secretary, Kathie Littleton.

The play is produced by special arrangement with Samuel French, Inc.

Claremont playhouse to open

A new theater, the Claremont Playhouse, will open on Jan. 30 with "Butch and The Kid," a musical comedy written by Buddy Youngreen and music by James Prigmore.

The new theater will occupy the old high school auditorium at the Griswold's Old School House complex, Claremont, which has been dormant for many years. The auditorium, with its Mediteranean-style structure is well designed with good proportions for legitimate theater purposes, according to Dale White, Patrick Miller and Youngreen, the trio of directors who will stage the shows.

Work is presently under way to completely refurbish the building with new interior appointments, and to totally redesig n and build the stage, featuring a deep-thrust apron extending from the proscenium. Dressing rooms, complete with two separate shower facilites for the casts, along with a green room and actors' lounge are being constructed beneath the stage.

The entertainment planned will stress good comedies which have proven successful on New York runs. White, the executive producer, Miller and Youngreen all are graduates and past staff directors of the Pasadena Playhouse. All three have extensive backgrounds in the theater, motion pictures and television.

"Butch and The Kid," which will have an 8:30 p.m. curtain time, is a play of western Americana based on some of the more humorous antics and adventures of Butch Cassidy, The Sundance Kid and his sweetheart, Etta Place. Youngreen originally produced and directed this musical romp at Robert Redford's Sundance Resort in Provo Canyon, Utah.

As producer-director for several years at the Pink Garter Theater in Jackson, Wyo., Youngreen again presented "Butch and The Kid" for a successful run.

Senator will speak

Senator Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., will be the next speaker in the Public Affairs Forum at Claremont Men's College. He will speak on "American Foreign Policy after Vietnam" at 3 p.m. Friday, Jan. 16, in Bauer Lecture Hall. The public is welcome.

Pell, the leading Senate spokesman on education, serves as the chairman of the Subcommittee on Education and was principal sponsor of the Higher Education Act of 1972. His legislative interests range from education, health care, high speed ground transportation and ocean affairs, to arts and humanities, metric conversion, and international relations.

A graduate of St. Mary's College at Moraga, Calif., Pahl has also studied at California State Polytechnic University, Pomona, and at the Centro de Intercultural Documentacion in Cuernavaca, Mexico.

Before coming to Chaffey College in 1973, he was the director at Griswold's Foothill Art Center in Claremont. He also served for two years as assistant director of the fine arts department of the Los Angeles County Fair.

'God's Total Person'

Lincoln Avenue Church in Pomona announces the beginning of a six-week lecture series entitled, "God's Total Person." The course is being presented by Priscilla Brandt who teaches how to reduce stress, reach goals, and find creative answers to personal and business problems by a blending of medical, psychological, and Biblical principles.

Mrs. Brandt is a certified lecturer for the "God's Total Person Seminar" and has been appointed the national coordinator. She is a registered nurse, who has been studying the fields of medicine, psychology and religion for 20 years. Recently her interest in biofeedback and the effect of the alpha state, led to her training for her position in the seminars.

She explained, "To be God's total person, one must bring balance to body, mind as well as spirit. There is a powerful mechanism built into each of us to help us find this balance, bringing joy and healing to the personality and body. Through a technique called 'two-way prayer' many students have experienced greater serenity, direction for their lives, increased creativity, greater courage and self-esteem. This 'creative silence' is therapeutic."

The class meets weekly starting 7:30-9:30 p.m. Monday or 9:15 - 11:15 a.m. Tuesday. Tuition, $25, includes a work packet, two books and a cassette tape. The church is located on the corner of Indian Hill Boulevard and Lincoln Avenue.

Three Upland churches host spirituality program

Three Upland churches will sponsor a two-part program on personal spirituality and global responsibility in the Old Testament Sunday and Jan. 25.

Dr. Rolf Knierim, professor of Old Testament at the School of Theology at Claremont, will lead both sessions on Christian Biblical tradition, faith and responsibility.

Knierim will preach on personal spirituality and global responsibility in the Old Testament at the 10:30 a.m. worship service Sunday at Upland First Presbyterian Church, 869 N. Euclid Ave. The sermon will be an introduction for the following workshop.

Knierim also will lead a workshop on spirituality and global responsibility in the Old Testament 2-5 p.m. Jan. 25 at Upland United Methodist Church, 262 N. Euclid Ave.

The workshop will include an introduction on how to read Bible texts as well as small- group exploration of selected texts.

The three sponsoring churches, Upland Presbyterian, Upland United Methodist and St. Mark's Episcopal, are part of an internship training program through the School of Theology.

The program, funded by a grant from the Lilly Foundation, is intended to teach seminary students how to work in local congregations.

The program also works to broaden global consciousness in the individual congregation "so that as Christians grow in faith, they will have greater spiritual resources and global consciousness while being in ministry to the world they live in," according to Russ Locke, intern at Upland United Methodist Church.

WCTU to meet

Upland Christian Temperance Union (WCTU) president Iva Marr will lead a discussion on legislation at the monthly meeting 1-3 p.m. Friday at her home.

Fannie Hoffman will discuss "bottle" babies. Devotions will be led by Dorcas Nigh.

Members also will celebrate the "heavenly birthday" of Frances Willard who originated a worldwide petition in 1885 urging governments to stop protecting alcohol and opium. The petition was signed by eight million people in 52 languages.

World council report

A "bring your own sack lunch" meeting will be held noon Jan. 22 at the La Verne Church of the Brethren to hear an in-depth report of the fifth assembly of the World Council of Churches presented by Dr. G. Merrill Lenox. This luncheon is sponsored by the Pomona Valley Council of Churches.

The Assembly was held in Nairobi, Africa Nov. 23 - Dec. 12. Dr. Lenox went to this meeting in a dual capacity — a delegate from the Pomona Valley Council and a press representative for the Progress - Bulletin. In this luncheon setting he will be dealing with the issues covered in this significant assembly.

Dr. Lenox, former executive director of the Pomona Valley council, is one of the few people who has attended all of the assemblies of the World Council of Churches body. He has served for 21 years as the executive director of the Metropolitan Detroit Council of Churches and for 18 years on the General Board of the National Council of Churches.

Now retired, Dr. Lenox still continues an active schedule serving as broadcast consultant for the Council, doing a weekly broadcast on "Religion in Action" over KKAR and also serving as administrative director for the Claremont United Methodist Church. Out of this wide and comprehensive background, he will be sharing his insights into the happenings surrounding this significant assembly. This meeting is open to all interested parties.

A beverage will be served by the host church. For reservations call council office, (714) 622-3806.

Nag Hammadi Codices

The Nag Hammadi Codices, an exhibit prepared by the Claremont Graduate School's Institute for Antiquity and Christianity, is currently on display at the Pomona Public Library. Examining one of the major archeological "finds" of our time, the exhibit consists of hanging panels which interpret, with text and photographs, the geographical and historical contexts of the "finds."

The codices are leather-bound papyrus manuscripts which were unearthed in Egypt in 1945. The exhibit shows the discovery site, the manuscripts themselves, the method of dating and the significance of the find and offers background information on the Gnostics — ancient Christian heretics — who presumably buried the codices 1600 years ago.

The Nag Hammadi Library — so called for the name of the Egyptian town near the discovery site—consists of 12 codices each of which is a collection of essays. Together the 53 "essays" or tractates give the modern world a new look at this ancient religion and the evolution of Western culture.

James Brashler of the Institute for Antiquity and Christianity will discuss the Nag Hammadi Codices in the Library's Public Conference Room 7:30 p.m. Jan. 22. Everyone is invited to attend. The exhibit will continue on display through January.

For more information about the exhibit or the program call the Library, (714) 620-2011.

Campus Life to host 'Jesus Rock' artist

Larry Norman to perform

Song writer and solist Larry Norman will make a rare Southern California public appearance in a concert 7:30 p.m. January 24 at Bethany Baptist Auditorium, Sunset and Badillo, West Covina. The concert is sponsored by Campus Life, and is the opening night for "Breakaway."

Larry Norman grew up in San Francisco, three blocks away from the corner of Haight and Ashbury. When he was 5 years old he began to play the piano. When he was 9 he wrote his first song. By the time he was 16 he had written more than 500 songs. Disillusioned with the educational system he dropped out, ran away from home, and started a rock-and-roll band. Capitol Records signed his band "People" to a contract and Larry had a million selling single.

"Larry had discovered the reality of Jesus in the middle of all this, and as his band became more and more successful he sang at the Fillmore, Avalon, and other top American rock palaces with Jimi Hendrix, Janis Joplin, Jefferson Airplane, The Grateful Dead, The Who, Van Morrison, The Byrds, and even Dylan, and he preached Jesus to a generation that had put their faith in hallucinatory drugs and free love," said a Campus Life spokesperson.

His first rock and roll album for Capitol (recorded in 1967) was titled "We Need a Whole Lot More of Jesus — and Lot Less Rock and Roll." Larry was trying to establish a form of music he called "Jesus Rock" — a hybrid balance between rock and reverence - but most people felt the two would never mix. It wasn't until his third album, "Upon This Rock" (1969), that he was able to fully express his intention and establish his ministry. And it was this album that is credited with ushering in the whole era of contemporary Jesus music, the spokesperson said.

"Time" magazine recognized him as being "the top solo artist in his field" (at that time they could have changed "top solo" to "only"), and his songs "I Wish We'd All Been Ready" and "Sweet Song of Salvation," became the theme songs for the burgeoning Jesus movement.

Norman's songs have been recorded in more than five languages and used in over a dozen films. More than 100 other artists have recorded his songs including Petula Clark, Jack Jones, Sammy Davis Jr., Tennessee Ernie Ford and Pat Boone. Two of his seven albums have been nominated for the coveted Grammy Award and "Billboard" magazine has said "Larry Norman is probably the most important songwriter since Paul Simon."

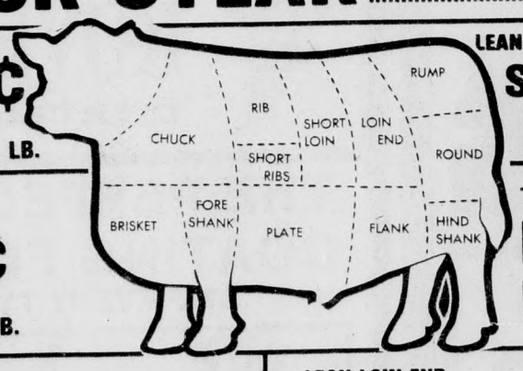

Norman has appeared extensively in the U.S., Canada, So. Africa, Europe, and in England where he played London's famous Royal Albert Hall and sold out two concerts - three months in advance.

"DOG DAY AFTERNOON" — Al Pacino, who received Oscar nominations for his acting in "Serpico" and both "Godfathers," stars as one of two bank robbers in only his sixth film in "Dog Day Afternoon," a Warner Brothers release. The screenplay, by Frank Pierson, details the bravely foolish and totally ineffective attempt by a pair of amateurs to rob a Brooklyn bank in broad daylight.

Al Pacino in real-life comedy

'Dog Day Afternoon'

"Dog Day Afternoon," the Warner Bros. film starring Al Pacino, is an audacious and stunning enactment of a bizarre event which took place several years ago on a torrid August day and night in Brooklyn.

It is the second collaboration of A Pacino, director Sidney Lumet and producer Martin Bregman (his coproducer in this case was Martin Elfand), who made the successful "Serpico," a story about the cop who battled dishonesty in the police force and a picture that was a box office smash and won Pacino an Academy Award nomination.

Like "Serpico," the new film is based on real-life events as they were catalogued in a magazine article, rights to which were purchased by Artists Entertainment Complex, headed by Bregman, who saw the potential in a fanciful, stranger-than-fiction tale.

The screenplay is by Frank Pierson and details the bravely foolish and totally ineffective attempt by a pair of amateurs to rob a bank in broad daylight. The strange reasons behind the robbery and the subsequent, oddly sympathetic attachment between the hostages and their captors while outsiders (police, press and gawkers) try to pierce their peculiarly private world, form the crux of the story.

Except for a few days' filming at Kennedy Airport, the whole picture was shot in the Park Slope section of Brooklyn, with the streets, the faces of the passers-by and the ambience of the area becoming an intregal part of the film.

Since, because of the very nature and feel of the story, it had to be filmed in Brooklyn and since it was patently impossible to use a real bank for the set, Bregman and associates did the next best thing. An unoccupied warehouse was rented and magically transformed into amini-studio, with half the premises remodeled into a complete and accurate replica of a bank. The other half was designed to house dressing rooms, rest rooms, lounges, commisary, costumes, offices, etc.

The same street on which the studio and bank-set grew to life became the exteriors for the movie and frequently the people who lived and worked in the neighborhood became part of the milieu. The mixture of convenience, realism and camaraderie resulted in an extraordinarily well-organized and uniformly cooperative effort.

Although Al Pacino had made only five films prior to "Dog Day Afternoon," he received Oscar nominations for three of them — "Serpico" and both "Godfathers." Although he is thus a comparative newcomer to the screen, he has quickly achieved superstar status and ranks with Newman, McQueen and Redford at the top of his field.

Following completion of "Dog Day Afternoon," Pacino returned to the stage in Boston and in a workshop production of "Arturo Ui." When he was active in the theater before his film career, he won the off-Broadway Tony Award for "Does the Tiger Wear a Necktie?"

Four of his coworkers in "Dog Day Afternoon" joined him in Boston for "Arturo Ui." They were Carol Kane, Penny Allen, Sully Boyar and John Cazale.

In fact, Cazale and Pacino have run somewhat parallel careers since they were both messengers at Standard Oil and were allowed time off for auditions and interviews. Subsequently, Cazale also won an Obie for "The Indian Wants the Bronx," played Pacino's older brother in the "Godfather" films and was featured in the film, "The Conversation."

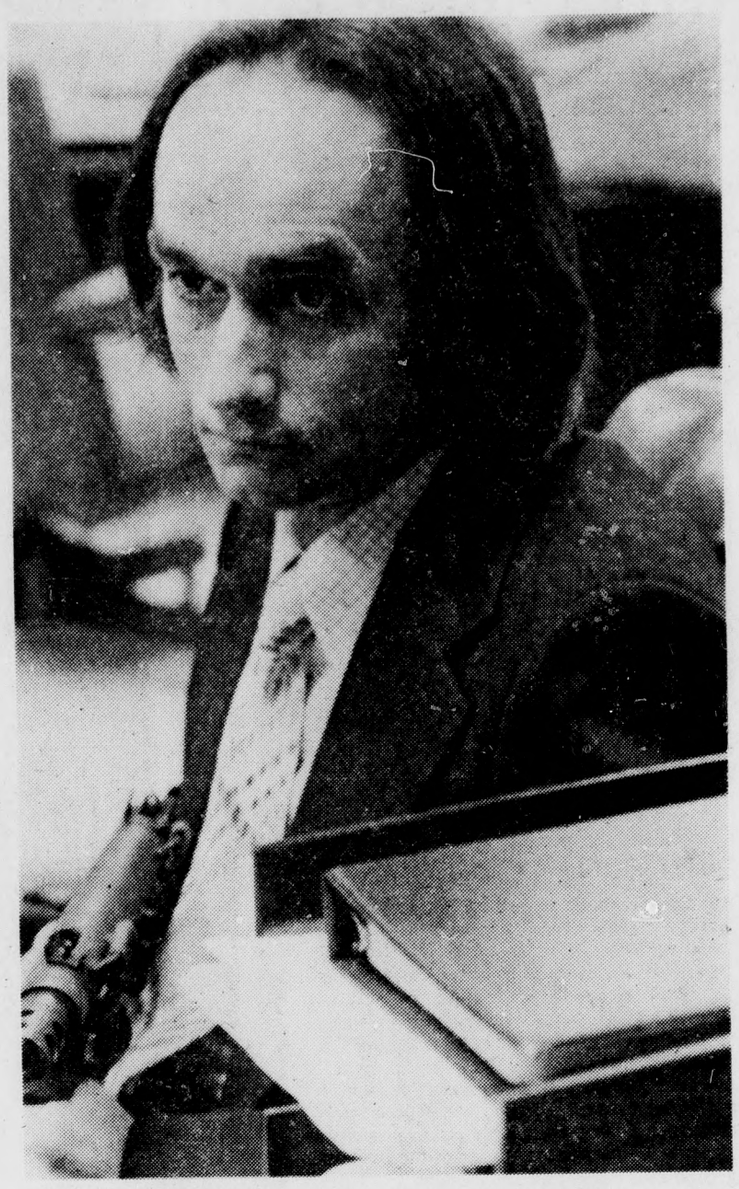

A New York actor getting his due in his middle years is Charles Durning, who, after many plays on and off Broadway, and a number of years with Joseph Papp's Public Theatre, finally made it big in the Pulitzer Prize winner, "That Championship Season." Playing Robert Redford's police nemesis in "The Sting" helped move his career along as did the TV drama of middle-aged lovers, "The Queen of the Stardust Ballroom."

In "Dog Day" he plays the cop who has a running battle of wits and psychology with Pacino. The director encouraged the extemporaneous dialogue into which the two frequently fell, following the script all the time, but adding their own words and embellishments.

Another New York actor, more famous by name to his peers than to the public, is James Broderick whose career was spawned in the days of live New York television drama when he appeared in more than 200 shows. He's done a vast amount of theater in New York and elsewhere and a fair amount of films. ("The Taking of Pelham One Two Three," "Alice's Restaurant" and "The Group"). He plays the FBI man in "Dog Day Afternoon."

Sidney Lumet, who has directed almost two dozen films, has yet to make one in Hollywood. Neither is he limited to New York, although many of his undertakings were backgrounded there. Another television pioneer (he directed 500 shows during the first golden years of television), he moved into feature films in 1957 with a winner, "12 Angry Men," and has remained in films ever since. Among his best known: "Long Day's Journey Into Night," "The Pawnbroker," "The Hill," "Fail-Safe," "The Group," "The Anderson Tapes," "Serpico" and "Murder On the Orient Express."

The producers of "Dog Day Afternoon" are Martin Bregman and Martin Elfand.

PACINO'S PARTNER — "Fever in the blood" is what an actor must have, according to John Cazelle, who has the key role of Al Pacino's partner in crime. The would-be criminals invade a Brooklyn bank under a noonday sun in August and foul up the job, make friends with the hostages and gawking neighbors and then reveal the strangest thing of all.

CHARLES DURNING — One of the most respected and in-demand character actors today, Charles Durning portrays a slightly harassed police detective in "Dog Day Afternoon," directed by Sidney Lumet. Durning played the cop who harassed Robert Redford in "The Sting" and last season played an appealing middle-aged lover in the television movie, "Queen of the Stardust Ballroom."

AMATEUR DAY — Al Pacino and Penny Allen demonstrate "amateur day" in the bank robbing business in "Dog Day Afternoon," a Warner Brothers comedy. The film is based on a series of bizarre events that actually happened a few years ago in Brooklyn. Except for a few days' filming at Kennedy Airport, the picture was shot in the Park Slope section of Brooklyn, with the streets and the faces of the passers-by becoming an integral part of the film.

MOVIE DEBUT — Chris Sarandon makes his motion picture debut in the pivotal role of Leon in "Dog Day Afternoon." A graduate of West Virginia University, Sarandon made his Broadway stage debut in "The Rothschilds," followed by "Two Gentlemen of Verona."

Chafing Dish Glazed Fruit and Vintage Cheese Cake are but just two elegant ways to entertain with wine. Other special recipes, for entertaining, all with a touch of elegance added by fine wine, are offered on this food page today.

In the French manner

Golden cheese puff pastry

French pastry shops produce some of the most tempting desserts in the world. However, an equally important part of their business involves hors d'oeuvres and luncheon dishes such as Pate en Croute or Quicke Lorraine. These savory pastries play an essential role throughout the cuisine.

A simple hot pastry that you can make at home is Les Petites Gougeres, golden cheese puffs with a tempting aroma. Based on a classic cream puff dough, this unique recipe is remarkable easy. The pastry can be prepared in about 10 minutes and is dropped in puffs on a lightly greased cookie sheet. No need for rolling and cutting! Margarine, perfect for all your baking, enhances the rich flavor of these tasty cheese pastries.

Popular in the Burgundy region of France, Les Gougeres are considered the perfect wine accompaniment. Bite-size, they make a delicious hot hors d'oeuvre for your next cocktail party.

Les Gougeres are also ideal for a simple lunch or late supper party. Make the pastries cream puff size, allowing two per person and serve with soup and a hearty salad. Wine and fresh fruit for dessert will complete this continental meal.

Les Petites Gougeres

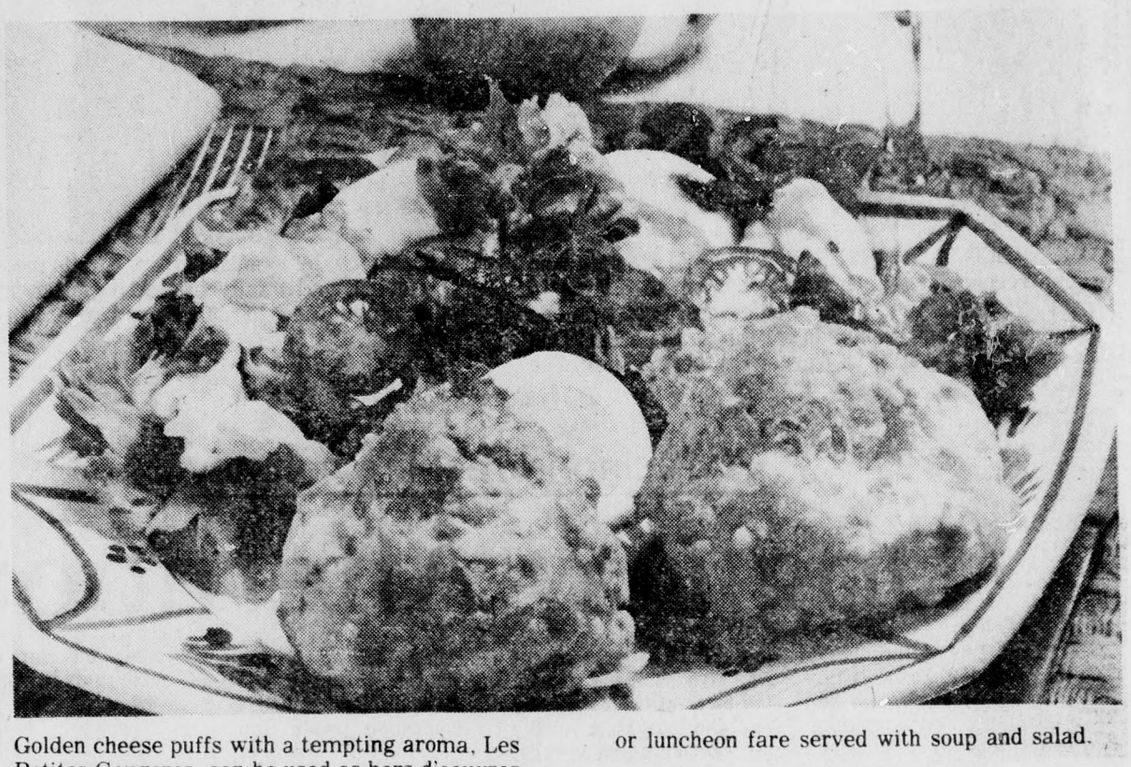

1 cup water
¼ cup margarine
½ teaspoon salt
Dash of white pepper
1 cup unsifted flour
4 eggs
1 cup (4-ounces, shredded Swiss cheese

Heat water, margarine, salt and pepper in a saucepan until the water is boiling and margaine has melted. Add flour all at once and beat vigorously until mixture leaves the sides of the pan. Remove from heat. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Continue beating until mixture is smooth. Stir in shredded cheese until well blended.

Drop mixture on a lightly greased baking sheet to form 12 puffs, dividing the mixture evenly.

Bake at 375 degrees F. for about 45 minutes, or until done. Serve immediately. Especially good with salads. Makes 12 puffs.

For Hors D'Oeuvre Size Puffs: Drop mixture by rounded teaspoonfuls onto lightly greased baking sheet. Bake at 375 degrees F. about 30 minutes or until done. Makes 3 dozen small puffs.

Golden cheese puffs with a tempting aroma, Les Petites Gougeres, can be used as hors d'oeuvres or luncheon fare served with soup and salad.

Special entertaining language

Wine adds elegance

When you really think about it, what you serve says a lot about you and your attitude toward your guests. For example, when a close friend drops by unannounced, whatever's in the cookie jar says, "I'm glad you dropped in and I know you'll understand." That's spur of the moment . . . but planned entertaining should speak a special language.

At test kitchens in Rochester, N.Y., a lot of time and effort has gone into some very special recipes for entertaining. A touch of elegance is added to each of the recipes with the use of fine wines.

Vintage Cheese Cake is the perfect way to end a company dinner or the just-right accompaniment for coffee or tea after the theater. The crowding glory of this elegant dessert is a topping of burnished gold created with peaches and wine.

Chafing Dish Glazed Fruit is a quick and clever way to glamorize cake or vanilla ice cream. Colorful and flavorful fruits combine in a shimmery sauce easily created with red wine and brown sugar. The result is a delicately flavored topping that turns ordinary cake or ice cream into the "piece de resistance" of any meal.

Other glamorous desserts for special entertaining include a Wine Parfait, a resplendant creation using ice cream, coconut macaroons, and a luscious sauce made with red wine; a trifle wherein English elegance meets the special flavor of wine; Cream Cake a glazed party cake made with pink wine; and for cocktail entertaining, East Indian Cheese Spread a delightfully different spread with raisins, walnuts and wine.

All these recipes combine to increase and enhance your entertaining vocabulary. Now when you serve that special something to guests, that says, "This is me . . ." you can say it with a touch of elegance that only wine can give.

Vintage Cheese Cake

Crust:
1½ cups vanilla wafer crumbs (34 wafers)
3 tablespoons sugar
1/3 cup butter or margarine, melted

Filling:
3 packages (8-oz. each) cream cheese, softened at room temperature
¼ cup pink wine
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup sugar
4 eggs

Glaze:
1 can (1-lb.) sliced cling peaches

To make filling, beat together until smooth cream cheese, wine and salt. Gradually add sugar. Beat in eggs, one at a time. Pour over baked crust. Bake at 300 degrees for 1 hour to 1 hour and 15 minutes, until set; cool. Loosen cake with spatula; remove side of pan. To make glaze, drain peaches, saving ½ cup syrup. Combine sugar and cornstarch in small saucepan. Gradually add the ½ cup syrup and wine. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly until glaze comes to a boil and is thickened. Stir in food color; cool. Arrange drained peaches on top of cake; spoon some of the glaze over cake. Chill until serving time. Cut into wedges and serve with remaining glaze for sauce. 10 to 12 servings.

Wine Parfait

½ cup currant jelly
½ cup red wine
6 to 8 almond or coconut macaroon cookies, dried at room temperature overnight
1½ pints vanilla ice cream

Combine jelly and wine in small saucepan. Simmer, uncovered, 10 to 15 minutes stirring frequently, until slightly thickened. Cool. Crumble cookies in blender or with rolling pin to make coarse crumbs. Alternate layers of ice cream, cookie crumbs and wine syrup in parfait glasses, wine glasses or dessert dishes. Keep in freezer until ready to serve. 6 servings.

Trifle

1 package (3¼-oz.) vanilla pudding and pie filling
1 pound cake, about 11 ounces
½ cup raspberry or strawberry preserves
½ cup wine
1 to 2 cups frozen whipped topping, thawed (or sweetened whipped cream)
¼ cup slivered almonds

Add layers of pudding and remaining cake. Sprinkle with remaining wine. Chill 2 to 3 hours. Just before serving, spread with whipped topping and sprinkle with almonds. 6 to 8 servings.

Cream Cake

1 package (1-lb., 3-oz.) yellow cake mix
4 eggs
1 cup pink wine
1 package (3-oz.) cream cheese, softened at room temperature

Remove from pan and cool completely. Drizzle with Pink Glaze.

Pink Glaze: Combine 1 cup sifted confectioners' sugar, 3 to 4 teaspoons pink wine, and 2 to 3 drops red food color; stir until smooth.

½ cup golden raisins, coarsely chopped
¼ cup chopped walnuts
Assorted crackers

Beat together cream cheese, wine, and curry powder until fluffy. Stir in Cheddar cheese, raisins, and walnuts. Serve as a spread with crackers. Makes 2 cups dip.

RAISIN GOOD BARS

1/3 cup butter or margarine
¾ cup quick-cooking oats
1½ cups packed brown sugar
¾ cup flour 2 eggs
½ teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
¾ cup dark or golden raisins
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ cup flaked coconut
¼ cup chopped candied cherries

Blend butter, oats, ½ cup of the brown sugar and ½ cup flour until crumbly. Pack firmly into bottom of greased 9-inch square pan. Bake in 350 degree oven for 15 minutes, or until lightly browned. Meanwhile, beat eggs. Add remaining 1 cup brown sugar, ¼ cup flour and rest of ingredients, stirring to blend. Spoon over baked layer and bake 30 minutes longer. Cool before cutting into bars. Makes about 2 dozen bars.

Vegetables add class, make low-cost meals attractive

Vegetables are important in making low-cost meals attractive.

This sprightly trio proves the point and helps banish "the same old thing" from your vegetable cookery.

Pineapple Stir-Fry: By combining sun-ripe canned pineapple chunks with Chinese pea pods, cherry tomatoes, onion and seasonings you make the classic stir-fry vegetable dish so popular in Hawaii.

Pineapple Vegetable Medley: Qualifies as an all-family favorite through use of garden-fresh produce subtly teamed with pineapple. Even your vegetable rebels will like this classic mix.

Pineapple and Potatoes in Mustard Dill Sauce: This unusual combination pays off with a wonderful, zesty flavor. Potatoes simmer lazily in well- seasoned chicken broth then share the sauce with rings of Hawaiian pineapple. Dill weed and lemon juice are included in the thickening. A classic recipe.

Pineapple Stir-Fry

1 (1 pound 4 ounce) can pineapple chunks
½ cup cliced onion (1 small onion)
1 tablespoon oil
2 cups fresh Chinese pea pods (or 6-ounce package frozen)
1½ cups small whole cherry tomatoes (½ pound)
½ cup syrup from pineapple
1 teaspoon cornstarch
¾ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon garlic powder

Drain pineapple, reserving syrup. Saute onion in oil over moderately high heat just until soft. Add pea pods and saute 5 minutes until almost tender-crisp. Stir in tomatoes and drained pineapple chunks and heat through. Mix ½ cup syrup from pineapple- vegetable mixture. Cook, stirring, until sauce boils and thickens. Makes 4 servings (about 1 quart).

Pineapple Vegetable Medley

½ pound carrots
½ pound zucchini
1 (1 pound 4 ounce) can pineapple chunks
2 tablespoons chopped green onion
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
1 tablespoon pimiento strips
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon dried mint, crumbled
1 teaspoon cornstarch
2 teaspoons lemon juice
Fresh mint sprigs (optional)

Pare and cut carrots in ½-inch diagonal slices to measure 1½ cups. Trim and cut zucchini in 2½-inch strips to measure 2 cups. Drain syrup from pineapple into large skillet. Add carrots and heat to boiling. Turn heat low, cover and simmer 8 to 10 minutes until carrots are tender-crisp. Add zucchini, pineapple chunks, onion, green pepper, pimiento, salt and dried mint and mix gently. Cover and cook 3 to 5 minutes longer. Mix cornstarch with lemon juice. Stir into pineapple mixture. Cook, stirring gently, until mixture boils and thickens. Turn into serving dish and garnish with fresh mint, if desired. Makes 4 servings.

Pineapple and Potatoes In Mustard Dill Sauce

1 (8¼ ounce) can sliced pineapple
1 pound small potatoes (about 4)
¾ cup water
2 teaspoons prepared mustard
1 teaspoon chicken seasoned stock base
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ cup sliced green onion
1/3 cup syrup from pineapple
1 teaspoon cornstarch
1 teaspoon lemon juice
¼ teaspoon dill weed
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
Fresh dill for garnish (optional)

Drain pineapple, reserving syrup. Pare potatoes and cut in halves lengthwise. Combine water, mustard, chicken seasoned stock base and salt in 9-inch skillet. Add potatoes and heat to boiling. Turn heat low, cover and simmer 15 to 20 minutes, until tender. Add drained pineapple slices and green onion. Cover and cook 3 minutes longer. Combine 1/3 cup syrup from pineapple with cornstarch, lemon juice and dill weed. Stir into liquid on potatoes. Add butter and cook, stirring gently, until mixture boils and thickens.

A trio of interesting, quick, new ways to make low cost meals more exciting is shown here. Canned pineapple and vegetables are joined in three recipes to help make low cost meals more appealing. Recipes are for Pineapple Stir-Fry, Pineapple Vegetable Medley and Pineapple and Potatoes in Mustard Dill Sauce.

'1776' due at theater

The cities of San Bernardino and Riverside and their respective Bicentennial Commissions have proclaimed San Bernardino Civic Light Opera's forthcoming production of the Broadway musical hit, "1776," as the official inaugural event for each city's Bicentennial celebration.

"1776," the award-winning musical which re-creates those exciting days 200 years ago when America's founding fathers were forming this great nation, will open for a limited engagement, Feb. 13 through Feb. 21, at the California Theatre of Performing Arts in San Bernardino.

"Hailed as a milestone in American musical theatre when it opened on Broadway, prominent national critics were quick to recommend that every red-blooded American see the show to renew their sense of patriotic pride in our American inheritance," said C. Dale Jenks, Civic Light Opera general manager.

"Civic Light Opera, in this Bicentennial year, is recommending the same thing," Jenks said. This musical brings into focus those ideals and facts that have permitted the people of this country to be free."

Jenks said that momentum over the forthcoming Bicentennial celebration is building among educators and civic and cultural leaders from both cities. "Because of it's historic significance, many of the schools in the area are encouraging students to attend the production," said Jenks.

Tashi concert set

Tashi, one of the nation's most exciting instrumental groups, will present its West Coast premiere of Wuorinen's "Tashi" Sunday, Jan. 18 at Mt. San Antonio College.

The 7:30 p.m. concert will be held in the Social Science Center auditorium. General admission ($4) and student tickets ($2) may be obtained at the MSAC Community Services office, (714) 598-2811, ext. 361, Bldg. 4, Room 221.

Tashi (Tibetan for good fortune) is a chamber music ensemble which brings together four of the country's leading young instrumentalists - pianist Peter Serkin, violinist Ida Kavafian, cellist Fred Sherry and clarinetist Richard Stoltzman. The group is the outgorwth of informal sessions of music making, which the artists enjoyed enough to want to share with others.

Since their New York debut in 1973, they have been hailed for their unusual programs and vibrant performances across the country. They have been equally at home in an all-Brahms program at New York's Metropolitan Museum or on college campuses where programs of Stravinsky, Webern, Mozart and Mesiaen's "Quartet for the End of Time" earned them standing ovations and return engagements.

They have attractred standing- room- only audiences throughout the United States and Europe. They also have attracted the attention of the world's greatest composers. For instance, Toru Takemitsu, Japan's foremost composer, dedicated a new work to Tashi, which it performed last September with Seiji Ozawa and the New Japan Philharmonic.

Tashi pianist Peter Serkin has been heard throughout the world as soloist with orchestra, in recital and chamber music performances and has recorded extensively for RCA Victor. He has played much of the literature of Olivier Messiaen, giving critically - acclaimed performances in New York, Philadelphia and San Francisco of the two-hour "Vingt Regards sur l'Engant Jesus." He is also known for his recent performances of the six concertos by Mozart composed in 1784 and recorded for RCA, with the English Chamber Orchestra under Alexander Schneider.

Ida Kavafian, winner of one of Europe's major violin competitions, has appeared as soloist in New York's Mostly Mozart festival, as guest artist with the Lincoln Center Chamber Music Society, and in Alexander Schneider's New School Concert Series. She currently holds a grant from the Gulbenkian Foundation at the Juilliard School where she is a student of Oscar Shumsky.

Pneumonia still plagues aged, young children

Pneumonia, a lung disease which everyone hoped would go away with the advent of antibiotics and improved treatment, is unfortunately still with us. In fact, this age-old illness is the fifth leading cause of death in the United States, according to government statistics, reports the Health Insurance Institute.

This year an estimated 40,000 persons, a great many of them young children and individuals over 50, are expected to die from some form of the disease.

Some of the reasons for the grim statistics, according to health researchers, are: The older population is growing and it is more vulnerable to pneumonia; there is more accurate diagnosis and reporting of the disease.

Many health experts also feel that the incidence of fatal pneumonia remains high because with time, germs have built up defenses to antibiotics. Some also ascribe its rise to the growing number of people whose lungs have been weakened by exposure to air pollution and smoking.

Pneumonia an inflammation of the tiny air sacs within the lungs, can be caused by any of a wide variety of viruses, bacteria or mycoplasmas—organisms which hover between viruses and bacteria.

The more commonly-known types of pneumonia are usually defined by the agent that causes them: bacterial, brought on by bacteria; and viral, caused by viruses.

The commonest type of bacterial pneumonia is caused by a strain of germs called pneumococci. It may start several days after a cold with shaking chills, sweating, chest pain and fever which may rise rapidly to 105 or higher. It is usually followed by a cough which brings up mucus and rust-colored sputum.

Recovery from bacterial pneumonia depends on the age and health of the patient and the type and extent of treatment. Infants, persons over 50, diabetics and those who overindulge in alcohol, as well as people with chronic lung or heart conditions, all run risks of complications. But, with antibiotics (or an alternative drug, if there is an allergy) and hospitalization in the first three days, there is a 95 per cent chance of recovery.

As for viral pneumonia, the more common type, it is also preceeded by a bad cold or flu which won't go away. It may also cause high temperatures and coughing.

The treatment for viral pneumonia usually consists of bed rest, fluids and a pain reliever. Sometimes, hospitalization for a brief period may be required. If the patient is at an early stage of illness, it can be treated at home. Only some forms of the disease respond to antibiotics.

Here are some ways, reported by the Institute, to guard against pneumonia, which usually attacks during the spring and winter months.

Don't let yourself get over-fatig[illegible] See to it that your meals are well-balanced and kee[illegible] away from hard liquor. Stay away from those who have [illegible] cold or flu ... as well as out of crowded places during [illegible]he cold and flu season.

If you should start feeling poorly this time of the year, don't get upset. Unless you develop the symptoms connected with pneumonia, keep in mind that there are thousands of cold victims to every case of pneumonia.

Tips on safe use of medicine

The rapid advances in medical research that have created new drugs which annually save millions of lives have brought new hazards into family medicine cabinets.

By following a few common sense rules, families could avoid mishaps and drastically reduce the number of accidental poisonings reported by health officials every year, according to the National Association of Chain Drug Stores.

"There have been more than 900 new substances introduced into American medicine in the past 30 years. Many of these are potentially dangerous if taken carelessly, or stored where children can reach them easily," according to Robert J. Bolger, president of the organization that represents 225 chain drug store companies. These together operate more than 10,000 pharmacies in the United States, Puerto Rico and Venezuela.

One of the biggest dangers, according to Bolger, is encouraging children to think of medicine as candy in hopes of getting small fry to take it with a minimum of fuss.

"Even though it tastes good, children should not be given the idea that they are taking candy. And all medicines should be kept strictly out of reach of children," said Bolger.

To help impress on families the importance of proper use of medicines, the association in cooperation with the Drug Enforcement Administration of the U.S. Department of Justice has prepared a series of drug tips which are being distributed to customers by chain pharmacies.

They include:

—Only take prescription medicine for the condition diagnosed by your doctor. Don't use it again unless you check with him.

—Don't take another person's prescription medicine even if you think your symptoms are the same.

—Keep all medicine in the original container. Don't mix drugs together or put in other bottles.

—Never give or take any medicine in the dark.

—Consult your pharmacist before you select non-prescription medicine and read all directions and precautions carefully. Some combinations of prescription and non-prescription medicines may be harmful.

—Keep all medicine in a secure cabinet and out of the reach of children.

Keeping weight down

As anyone who's ever been on a diet knows, it's one thing to lose weight and another to keep it off. In fact, more than 90 per cent of dieters gain back every pound they worked so hard to lose.

But a maintenance diet high in bulk and low in processed foods and artificial products can take weight off safely and easily and keep it off for good, contends David Reuben, well-known author/doctor. The January issue of Reader's Digest explains how Dr. Reuben's diet works. A high-roughage diet takes longer to eat — compare a cabbage slaw to a gelatin salad — and the very process of slow chewing makes you feel fuller faster. Another benefit from chewy foods is that the chewing process generates saliva and gastric juices that swell food fibers in the stomach. This also helps produce a feeling of fullness.

There's no room for alcohol in this diet, nor for sodas, refined sugars and ultra-processed flour.

There is room for whole-grain flours, raw fruits, nuts and vegetables. Dr. Reuben says that your desire for alcohol and fatty meats will decrease after you've been on this diet for a short time.

Obesity, life insurance companies point out, shortens your life span. A person over 45 who carried as little as 10 extra pounds cuts his life expectancy by 8 per cent.

Thank God for your next meal...

Most of us have had it pretty good. We probably feel blessed that we were born Americans. And in worship, we thank God — for our country, for all we have. But that's not enough.

God expects us to prove our appreciation — by making sacrifices so that the hungry might have food. By providing shelter for the poor. By giving the parolee a new chance. In short, by bringing the God we worship into our lives.

In doing this, we'll end up being helped as much as the people we're helping.

PROPOSED FIREFIGHTERS RETIREMENT PROGRAM:

Shall taxpayers of Upland pay additional cost for larger retirement benefits for Upland firefighters, a plan commonly known as "Two Percent at Fifty." This plan allows retirement beginning at age 50. Final compensation per year of service; maximum allowance being 75% of final compensation. Additional cost is estimated $63,400 for fiscal year 19.7-77, resulting in property tax rate increase of approximately $.062 per $100 of assessed valuation, and increasing or decreasing proportionately each year as costs change.

PROGRAMA PROPUESTO
PARA EL RETIRO
DE BOMBEROS:

Pagaran los contribuyentes de Upland un costo adicional para mayores beneficios para los bomberos de Upland, un plan que se conoce comunmente bajo el nombre de "Dos por ciento a Cincuenta." Este plan permite el retiro comenzando a la edad de cincuenta años. La compensación final por año de servicio aumenta hasta alcanzar un máximo de 2.7% por año de servicio; el maximo permitido seria el 75% de la compensación final. El costo adicional se calcula ser $63,400 durante el año fiscal 1976-77, el cual resultaria en un aumento en la contribución impuesta en la propiedad de aproximadamente $.062 por $100 de valuación declarada, y aumentando o decreciendo proporcionadamente cada año a medida que cambien los gastos.
